STATEMENT

As a world citizen, architect, and teacher, I believe that is possible to change the world in a balanced way through the education, in fully respect of the nature, contributing positively to improve the quality of people’s life. I understand Architecture as a factor of social inclusion and human heritage preservation, generating self-employment and income, to reduce extreme poverty, to promote the quality on built environment, better collective services, and infrastructure, and to mitigation the climate change effects. To find results, these challenges and problems demands the commitment of all conscious people who share the same yearnings.
